

As Europe's only dedicated wet room supplier to the trade, Bathroom Engineering is the partner of choice for bathroom design & installation professionals. As a business to business specialist, we supply trade companies with not only the very best products, but also offer expert support for designers, contractors, architects, installers, & developers.

The key to our unique approach is understanding the main priorities from your point of view. By exploring the critical issues, we can advise on the best solution, taking into account key criteria like:

- Build ability
- Looks & aesthetic priorities
- Use ability, & quality
- Cost & financial constraints

Although this technical support service is invaluable, choosing the right products is vitally important to help ensure a perfect bathroom or wet room shower. To experience this unrivalled free support, send us your design and discuss it with our experts. We will work with your concept, advise on the most suitable combination of products, and offer you a choice of solutions that have the simplest goal of all...to work.

Whatever the project, from a single home to multi phase developments, our significant stocks offer the best products available today, ready for shipment anywhere in the world within hours. From a single linear floor drain, waterproof tanking or wet room shower tray system, our products are engineered and manufactured with the highest level of skill and dedication to exceed the most demanding of specifications.
